

About the Project

StillAware is the only not-for-profit organisation in Australia dedicated to raising awareness of stillbirth and is working alongside the Pilbara Aboriginal Voice (PAV) to surface knowledge that can guide us towards important understandings around preparing to carry and birth baby safely. This project exists because stats identify high rates of stillbirth in Aboriginal communities. Currently research is showing that Aboriginal woman experience stillbirth at 2-3 times the rate as non-Aboriginal women.

A Department of Health grant rewarded StillAware a project grant that covers six regions across Australia starting with the Pilbara region. As the project team travels through each region, opportunity will be given for each region to find their own translation of the project and allow their own ways of identifying. Gurlu Gurlu Wangka translates to Yarns about Children in the Ngarluma language, the base location for the Pilbara region. The aim of the project is to develop education and awareness resources with and for Aboriginal people, on ways to reduce risk of Stillbirth while pregnant.
